National foreword

This Part of BS 5752 has been prepared under the direction of the Food and Agriculture Standards Committee. It embodies an agreement, to which the United Kingdom was a party, reached in Subcommittee 15, Coffee, of Technical Committee 34, Agricultural food products, of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO). This Part is identical with ISO 8460:1987 “Instant coffee — Determination of free-flow and compacted bulk densities”.

Terminology and conventions. The text of the International Standard has been approved as suitable for publication as a British Standard without deviation. Some terminology and certain conventions are not identical with those used in British Standards; attention is drawn especially to the following.

The comma has been used throughout as a decimal marker. In British Standards it is current practice to use a full point on the baseline as the decimal marker.

Wherever the words “International Standard” appear, referring to this standard, they should be read as “British Standard”.

The symbol “ml” has been used to denote millilitre. In British Standards it is current practice to use the symbol “mL”.
