Foreword

This British Standard has been prepared by Technical Committee GW/3 at the request of users and providers of cash-in-transit services. It provides recommendations for the organization and conduct of such services.

NOTE Some European countries have drawn up legislation for the provision of cash-in-transit services. Providers of cash-in-transit services who are considering operating within European countries other than the UK should ensure that they are fully conversant with any legislation which might apply.

As a code of practice, this British Standard takes the form of guidance and recommendations. It should not be quoted as if it were a specification, and particular care should be taken to ensure that claims of compliance are not misleading.

A British Standard does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users of British Standards are responsible for their correct application.

Compliance with a British Standard does not of itself confer immunity from legal obligations. In particular, attention is drawn to legislation concerning health and safety at work, data protection, the rehabilitation of offenders, race and equal opportunity.
