

Road marking materials — Retroreflecting road studs —

Part 2: Road test performance specifications

The European Standard EN 1463-2:2000 has the status of a
British Standard

ICS 93.080.20

National foreword

This British Standard is the official English language version of EN 1463-2:2000. Together with BS 8442:2006, BS EN 12899-1:2001 and BS EN 1463-1:1998, this British Standard supersedes BS 873-1:1983, BS 873-2:1984, BS 873-4:1987, BS 873-5:1983, BS 873-6:1983 and BS 873-7:1984 which are withdrawn.

The UK participation in its preparation was entrusted by Technical Committee B/509, Road equipment, to Subcommittee B/509/2, Horizontal road markings and road studs, which has the responsibility to:

- aid enquirers to understand the text;
- present to the responsible European committee any enquiries on the interpretation, or proposals for change, and keep the UK interests informed;
- monitor related international and European developments and promulgate them in the UK.

A list of organizations represented on this subcommittee can be obtained on request to its secretary.

This standard is the second part of a two part standard for road studs prepared by CEN. This standard partially supersedes BS 873-4 which has been declared obsolescent.

Cross-references

The British Standards which implement international or European publications referred to in this document may be found in the BSI Standards Catalogue under the section entitled “International Standards Correspondence Index”, or by using the “Find” facility of the BSI Standards Electronic Catalogue.

A British Standard does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users of British Standards are responsible for their correct application.

Compliance with a British Standard cannot confer immunity from legal obligations.

This British Standard, having been prepared under the direction of the Sector Committee for Building and Civil Engineering, was published under the authority of the Standards Committee and comes into effect on 15 May 2000
