National foreword

This British Standard has been prepared under the direction of the Technical Sector Board for Building and Civil Engineering and is the English language version of EN 326-1:1993, Wood-based panels — Sampling, cutting and inspection — Part 1: Sampling and cutting of test pieces and expression of test results.

It is one of three standards dealing with sampling, cutting and inspection; the remaining two are:

EN 326-2, Wood-based panels — Sampling, cutting and inspection — Part 2: Quality control in the factory; and EN 326-3, Wood-based panels — Sampling, cutting and inspection — Part 3: Inspection of a consignment of panels.

These three standards provide sampling plans and statistical procedures for verifying compliance with all the EN specifications for wood-based panels, under the chosen method of assessment given in the title of the separate Part standards. These Part standards, fulfil the same function to this group of ENs as BS 6566-3 and the relevant clauses of BS 1142 and BS 5669-1 to BS 5669-4. However the procedures are fundamentally different and cannot be used as alternatives to the existing British Standards.

This standard, together with a number of other ENs, will form a series of BS ENs in the field of wood-based panels, superseding BS 1142, BS 5669 and BS 6566.

A British Standard does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users of British Standards are responsible for their correct application.

Compliance with a British Standard does not of itself confer immunity from legal obligations.
