This British Standard has been prepared under the direction of the Environment and Pollution Standards Policy Committee and is the English language version of EN 482:1994 Workplace atmospheres — General requirements for the performance of procedures for the measurement of chemical agents, published by the European Committee for Standardization (CEN). It is identical with BS 6069-3.6:1994. The European Standard was prepared by Technical Committee 137, Assessment of workplace exposure, of CEN with the active participation and approval of the UK.

BS 6069 is being published in a series of Parts and Sections that will generally correspond to particular International standards arising from the UK participation in the work of CEN TC/137 and ISO/TC 146. This Section of BS 6069 is one of several relating to workplace atmospheres that are being published as Sections of Part 3: Methods concerning stationary source emissions are being published as Sections of Part 4 of BS 6069. Topics related to other aspects of air quality characterization will be published as further Parts or Sections of BS 6069.

The following Parts of BS 6069 have already been published:

- Part 1: Units of measurement;
- Part 2: Glossary;
- Part 3: Workplace atmospheres;
- Part 4: Stationary source emissions.

Methods for the determination of particular constituents of ambient air are being published as Parts of BS 1747 Methods for measurement of air pollution.

A British Standard does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users of British Standards are responsible for their correct application.
