Committees responsible for this British Standard

The preparation of this British Standard was entrusted to Technical Committee PEL/32, Fuses, upon which the following bodies were represented:

- ASTA Certification Services
- Department of Trade and Industry (Consumer Safety Unit, C A Division)
- Electrical Installation Equipment Manufacturers' Association (BEAMA Ltd.)
- Electricity Association
- Institution of Electrical Engineers
- Institution of Incorporated Executive Engineers
- Ministry of Defence

The following bodies were also represented in the drafting of the standard, through subcommittees and panels:

- Federation of the Electronics Industry

This British Standard, having been prepared under the direction of the Electrotechnical Sector Board, was published under the authority of the Standards Board and comes into effect on 15 September 1995

National foreword

This British Standard has been prepared by Technical Committee PEL/32 and is the English language version of EN 60269-3:1995 Low-voltage fuses — Part 3: Supplementary requirements for fuses for use by unskilled persons (fuses mainly for household and similar applications), including amendment A1:2003, published by the European Committee for Electrotechnical Standardization (CENELEC). It is identical with IEC 60269-3:1987, including amendment 1:2003, published by the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC).

CENELEC has made an editorial correction in 7.1.4 to the text of IEC 60269-3; this is marked by a side line in the margin

This British Standard is one of a series. The other Parts are as follows:

BS EN 60269-1, Low-voltage fuses — Part 1: General requirements.

BS EN 60269-2, Low-voltage fuses — Part 2: Supplementary requirements for fuses for use by authorized persons (fuses mainly for industrial application).

This European Standard was approved by CENELEC on 1994-12-06; amendment A1 was approved by CENELEC on 2003-10-01. CENELEC members are bound to comply with the CEN/CENELEC Internal Regulations which stipulate the conditions for giving this European Standard the status of a national standard without any alteration.

Up-to-date lists and bibliographical references concerning such national standards may be obtained on application to the Central Secretariat or to any CENELEC member.

This European Standard exists in three official versions (English, French, German). A version in any other language made by translation under the responsibility of a CENELEC member into its own language and notified to the Central Secretariat has the same status as the official versions.

CENELEC members are the national electrotechnical committees of Austria, Belgium, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Slovakia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and United Kingdom.
