Foreword

Publishing information

This British Standard is published by BSI Standards Limited, under licence from The British Standards Institution, and came into effect on 30 September 2021. It was prepared by Technical Committee ACE/12, Aerospace fasteners and fastening. A list of organizations represented on this committee can be obtained on request to its committee manager.

Supersession

This British Standard supersedes BS SP 31 & 32:1951, which is withdrawn.

Information about this document

This is a full revision of the standard, and introduces the following principal changes:

- Clarification of split end bend test acceptance pass requirements;
- The addition of a cadmium caution notice;
- Clarification of the BS Part No. designation.

This publication can be withdrawn, revised, partially superseded or superseded. Information regarding the status of this publication can be found in the Standards Catalogue on the BSI website at bsigroup.com/standards, or by contacting the Customer Services team.

Hazard warnings

CAUTION. This British Standard features parts that have cadmium as a plating material which has been restricted and/or banned for use in many countries owing to environmental and health concerns; they should not be used in new product designs. Local officials should be consulted about any concerns on the use of cadmium plated parts.

Presentational conventions

The provisions of this standard are presented in roman (i.e. upright) type. Its requirements are expressed in sentences in which the principal auxiliary verb is “shall”.

Commentary, explanation and general informative material is presented in smaller italic type, and does not constitute a normative element.

Where words have alternative spellings, the preferred spelling of the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary is used (e.g. “organization” rather than “organisation”).
