FOREWORD

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes (ISO member bodies). The work of developing International Standards is carried out through ISO technical committees. Every member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been set up has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work.

Draft International Standards adopted by the technical committees are circulated to the member bodies for approval before their acceptance as International Standards by the ISO Council.

International Standard ISO 5316 was developed by Technical Committee ISO/TC 134, Fertilizers, and was circulated to the member bodies in March 1976.

It has been approved by the member bodies of the following countries :

Chile	Ireland	Poland
Czechoslovakia	Israel	Portugal
Finland	Italy	South Africa, Rep. of
France	Korea, Rep. of	Spain
Germany	Netherlands	Turkey
Hungary	New Zealand	United Kingdom
India	Norway	U.S.S.R.
Iran	Philippines	Yugoslavia

The member body of the following country expressed disapproval of the document on technical grounds :

Brazil
