Conditions of Use – Privilege Season Ticket

1. The Privilege Season Ticket allows the holder to travel on National Rail and London Underground services. Its use is therefore additionally subject to Transport for London regulations.
2. The Privilege Season Ticket must be supported by a Privilege Ticket Authority Card at all times, i.e. when being purchased and when being used.
3. The Privilege Season Ticket may only be used by the person in whose name it is issued, and in the class of carriage specified.
4. Privilege Season Tickets may be purchased for eligible dependants of employees but must not be used for commuting to work. They may, however, be used for travel to and from an educational establishment as specified at the time of application.
5. National Rail and London Underground reserve the right to cancel, or refuse to issue or to renew, a Privilege Season Ticket.
6. The minimum period of validity for a Privilege Season Ticket is one month, and the maximum is one year.
7. If the holder of a Privilege Season Ticket ceases, during the period of validity, to require it for the purpose for which it was issued (e.g. as a result of change of residence or duties, or leaving service) or if the holder ceases to be eligible for any reason for a Privilege Season Ticket, the ticket must be surrendered immediately to NR or LU.
8. If a Privilege Season Ticket is used in contravention of any of the foregoing, it will be classed as a Travel Irregularity and handled accordingly.
9. Additionally, an on-the-spot charge of a Penalty Fare, or the full ordinary fare for the class of carriage used for the particular journey (according to circumstances) will be charged, as if no payment had been made for the ticket.
