Air Navigation Order 2009

Publication date: 16 February 2016

General Exemption E 4146 and Permission

Use of Type Approved Microlights for Flight Instruction and Self-Fly Hire

Permission

- 1) The Civil Aviation Authority (the CAA), for the purposes of article 23(3) of the Air Navigation Order 2009 (the Order), permits any Type Approved Microlight aeroplane (a specified aeroplane), subject to the conditions specified in paragraph 3 (the specified conditions), to fly for the purpose of aerial work which consists of instruction or testing in a club environment.

Exemption

- 2) The CAA, in exercise of its power under article 242 of the Order, exempts any specified aeroplane, subject to the specified conditions, from the provisions of article 23(1)(b) of the Order.

Specified conditions

- 3) The specified conditions are;
 - a) the specified aeroplane is owned or operated under arrangements entered into with a flying club of which the owner and the pilot using it are both members;
 - b) no valuable consideration in respect of the flight or the purpose of the flight is given or promised other than valuable consideration given or promised:
 - i) by a pilot for the primary purpose of conferring on that pilot the right to fly the specified aeroplane on that flight; and/or
 - ii) for the purpose of obtaining instruction or testing; and
 - c) the specified aeroplane is maintained in accordance with the latest revision of BMAA Technical Information Leaflet No.32.

Definitions

- 4) A Type Approved Microlight is one which has been constructed in accordance with a design which the CAA has confirmed complies with BCAR Section S.

Duration

- 5) This permission and exemption have effect from the date signed until 31 December 2016, both dates inclusive, unless previously revoked.

Explanatory Note:

The purpose of this exemption is to allow any microlight aeroplane, which is type approved in accordance with BCAR Section S, to be used for self-fly hire or remunerated flight training and testing. Previously type approved microlights were issued with individual exemptions to allow this, which will no longer be required.
