

STANDARD FOR THERMAL INSULATION - SPRAY APPLIED
RIGID POLYURETHANE FOAM, MEDIUM DENSITY - MATERIAL SPECIFICATION

Underwriters Laboratories of Canada (ULC) was established in 1920 by letters patent issued by the Canadian Government. It maintains and operates laboratories and certification services for the examination, testing and certification of appliances, equipment, materials, constructions and systems to determine their relation to life, fire and property hazards as well providing inspection services.

Underwriters Laboratories of Canada is accredited by the Standards Council of Canada as a Certification Organization, a Testing Organization, and an Inspection Body under the National Standards System of Canada.

ULC Standards develops and publishes standards and other related publications for building construction, security and burglar protection, environmental safety, electrical equipment, fire protection equipment, gas and oil equipment, thermal insulation products, materials and systems, energy use in the built environment and electrical utility safety.

ULC Standards is a not-for-profit organization and is accredited by the Standards Council of Canada as a Standards Development Organization.

National Standards of Canada developed by ULC Standards conform to the criteria and procedures established by the Standards Council of Canada. Such standards are prepared using the consensus principle by individuals who provide a balanced representation of interests relevant to the subject area on a national basis.

ULC is represented across Canada as well as many countries worldwide. For further information on ULC services, please contact:

The Standards Council of Canada (SCC) is the coordinating body of the Canadian standardization network, which is composed of people and organizations involved in the development, promotion and implementation of standards. Through the collaborative efforts of Canadian standardization network members, standardization is helping to advance the social and economic well-being of Canada and to safeguard the health and safety of Canadians. The network's efforts are overseen by SCC.

The principal objectives of SCC are to foster and promote voluntary standardization as a means of advancing the national economy, supporting sustainable development, benefiting the health, safety and welfare of workers and the public, assisting and protecting the consumer, facilitating domestic and international trade, and furthering international cooperation in relation to standardization.

An important facet of the Canadian standards development system is the use of the following principles: consensus; equal access and effective participation by concerned interests; respect for diverse interests and identification of those who should be afforded access to provide the needed balance of interests; mechanism for dispute resolution; openness and transparency; open access by interested parties to the procedures guiding the standards development process; clarity with respect to the processes; and Canadian interest consideration as the initial basis for the development of standards.

A National Standard of Canada (NSC) is a standard prepared or reviewed by an SCC-accredited SDO and approved by the SCC according to NSC approval requirements. Approval does not refer to the technical content of the standard, as this remains the responsibility of the SDO. An NSC reflects a consensus of a number of capable individuals whose collective interests provide, to the greatest practicable extent, a balance of representation of general interests, producers, regulators, users (including consumers) and others with relevant interests, as may be appropriate to the subject at hand. NSCs are intended to make a significant and timely contribution to the Canadian interest.

Those who have a need to apply standards are encouraged to use NSCs. These standards are subject to periodic review. Users of NSCs are cautioned to obtain the latest edition from the SDO that publishes the standard.
